DEFINITION

3.1 Definition of terms:

There are many definitions of harassment or bullying. For practical purposes harassment and bullying involves something that is unwelcome, unwanted and causes a detrimental effect.

Harassment: Is unwanted conduct with the purpose or effect of violating a person's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that individual. Harassment has a legal definition under the Equality Act 2010 when this unwanted conduct is related to a relevant protected characteristic.

Harassment can take many forms. For example, abusive language, name calling, offensive screen savers, jokes, offensive emails, texts, cruel or offensive postings on social media sites. It can also include spoken or written words.

The conduct is unwanted in the sense of unwelcomed or uninvited, even if the victim has not expressly communicated to the harasser that they object to the behaviour. A serious one-off incident, for example forwarding a pornographic email, can be classed as harassment.

Bullying: Can be defined as unwelcome, malicious, insulting, offensive or intimidating behaviour or treatment by one individual, or groups which may be persistent or an isolated incident. Bullying can involve misuse or abuse of power or a group may bully an individual.

Direct Discrimination: This occurs when a person directly discriminates against another person because of a 'protected characteristic, where they treat them less favourably than they treat or would treat others. It is direct discrimination when the person who engages in less favourable treatment is influenced at least in part (consciously or subconsciously), by the protected characteristic (for example, a person's sex, race or disability).

All allegations of discrimination must be reported to England Netball so that the appropriate action can be taken, and advice and support provided.

Victimisation: Victimisation has a specific meaning under the Equality Act 2010. It is subjecting someone to less favourable treatment because they have made a complaint of discrimination, lodged a grievance, supporting a colleagues' grievance or bringing a tribunal claim alleging discrimination or harassment.

Examples of victimising behaviour could include being:

- bullied or belittled;
- Ostracised or excluded, having tasks removed;

- Denied promotion;
- Denied bonuses paid to comparable colleagues: or
- Given a poor reference.

FORMS OF BULLYING AND HARASSMENT

4.1 Bullying and harassment can take many forms but can include;

- Spreading malicious rumours, or insulting someone by word or behaviour, particularly on the grounds of race, gender, disability, sexual orientation, religion or belief and age.
- Passing derogatory comments about particular groups or individuals that are racist, sexist, disablist, homophobic, ageist, anti-religious or against someone's belief.
- The display of offensive material such as pornography or racist literature.
- Copying or forwarding emails or memos that are about someone to others who do not need to know.
- Ridiculing or demeaning someone, picking on them or setting them up to fail.
- Gossip or speculation about someone's sexual orientation.
- Exclusion or victimisation.
- Unfair treatment.
- Overbearing supervision or other misuse of power or position.
- Unwelcome sexual advances, touching or standing too close.
- Making threats or comments about job security without foundation.
- Deliberately undermining an individual by overloading and constant criticism.
- Preventing individuals progressing by intentionally blocking promotion or training opportunities.
- Making derogatory comments towards another individual or spreading rumours about an individual through social networking sites e.g. Facebook or Twitter.
- Single or multiple incidents.

APPLICATION OF THE POLICY

- 5.1 The following process should be followed when dealing with complaints of bullying and harassment
- 5.2 England Netball's aim when dealing with any complaints of harassment, is to swiftly resolve the problem in such a way as to maintain as far as possible a reasonable working environment for all parties concerned, confidentially and sensitively with due respect for the rights of the victim.
- 5.3 Everyone connected with netball have a duty to challenge conduct or language, which has the potential to offend or humiliate another person whether a colleague or volunteer.
- 5.4 The harassment and bullying procedure puts into practical effect the principles contained in the policy. The procedure recognises that victims of harassment want it to stop and for action to be taken against the perpetrator to stop it reoccurring again. This procedure aims to:

- Enable complaints to be investigated and dealt with as discreetly, effectively and sensitively as possible.
 - Develop a working environment, where harassment is known to be unacceptable and where individuals feel able to raise complaints and be confident that management will act appropriately.
 - Provide support, respect and understanding of a person's rights as an individual.
- 5.5 To report bullying or harassment at your netball club please contact your local club Safeguarding officer or the England Netball Compliance in confidence by either: email zero-tolerance@englandnetball.co.uk or Tel 07384 214726

INFORMAL STAGE

- 5.6 One of the objectives in England Netballs strategy is to establish a safe, fair and inclusive sporting environment. The promotion of respect, good sportsmanship, high standards of behaviour and ethics are fundamental to this objective. The code of conduct set out standards and expectations that are applicable to every volunteer. Bullying or Harassment are taken seriously and are a breach of the Code of Conduct which if proven could result in disciplinary action.
- 5.7 The informal stage of this procedure can be used as a constructive means of dealing with any harassment and bullying complaint. The informal stage may involve the club Safeguarding Officer arranging a meeting with the individual and the alleged perpetrator(s), either with a third party or through a mediation process in a hope that the concerns can be addressed.
- 5.8 Mediation can be a good way of dealing with bullying, discrimination or harassment situations depending upon the nature of any allegations. Please refer to the England Netball guide to mediation.
- 5.9 Where possible, individuals who feel that they have been the subject of bullying or harassment should be encouraged to resolve the problem informally if they wish to do so. Advantages of dealing with such matters informally include:
- Resolve any misunderstandings at an early stage and before the problem becomes difficult to resolve.
 - Giving the parties involved an opportunity to explain their perspective on the issue.
 - Allows both parties to agree a way forward, change their behaviour and where possible maintain a working relationship.
 - Minimise the stress experienced by the parties involved.
 - The matter is kept confidential between the parties concerned.
- 5.10 Dealing with the matter informally involves raising the issue directly with the alleged perpetrator(s), either verbally or in writing. The individual raising the concern is advised to keep a record of the incident(s) and instances of unacceptable behaviour, so that these can be used during discussions.
- 5.11 Where the individual finds it difficult to pursue the matter alone, they may wish to seek support from a colleague, England Netball manager or someone else within England Netball who may make the initial approach if required.

- 5.12 The person offering support should treat the matter sensitively and in confidence and act in accordance with the wishes of the individual who raised the concern.
- 5.13 In communicating with the alleged perpetrator either face to face or via letter, it is very important they are informed that their conduct is unacceptable or unwelcome and the effect that it is having on the individual. Notes should be kept of any discussion and of any further incidents.
- 5.14 Where informal action including mediation (where appropriate) has not resolved the issue or is inappropriate in the circumstances, the individual may choose to move to the formal stage of the procedure. Where the individual decides not to pursue their complaint formally, England Netball may still initiate formal action if the alleged behaviour is of a serious nature that cannot be ignored, and a formal investigation is required.

FORMAL ACTION

- 5.15 If the informal stage has not been successful or where it is inappropriate in the circumstances, the individual may pursue the complaint through formal action. In this case they must register a formal complaint without any unreasonable delay.
- 5.16 To register a formal complaint, an individual must complete the Harassment and Bullying Complaints Form (attached as appendix A) which is also available on the England Netball website.
- 5.17 The complaint must include details of the most recent incident(s), the name of the alleged harasser and returned to the local Safeguarding Officer at the netball club, or if this is not possible by post marked private and confidential for the attention of the Compliance Manager at England Netball head office.
- 5.18 Once the complaint has been received an acknowledgment letter will be sent and a meeting arranged to discuss the complaint with the club Safeguarding Officer or Compliance Manager. The club Safeguarding Officer will liaise with the Compliance Manager regarding any investigation. In the event of an investigation the complainant will be advised of the name of the Investigating Officer. The alleged perpetrator(s) will be informed of the nature of the complaint against them. Consideration will also be given to any changes to working arrangements whilst the investigation is ongoing.
- 5.19 Complaints will be treated seriously, and any investigation will be conducted thoroughly, impartially and promptly.
- 5.20 All parties (including witnesses) will be required to maintain strict confidentiality throughout the investigation.
- 5.21 The Investigating Officer is responsible for keeping both the complainant and alleged perpetrator(s) informed simultaneously about the progress of the investigation.

The investigation will conclude with a report to the Compliance Manager. The report will summarise the findings of the allegation(s). The findings will be considered by England Netball before any decision is made on whether further action should be taken.

APPENDIX B

GUIDANCE FOR CLUBS; COACHES; VOLUNTEERS AND OFFICIALS; PARENTS/CARERS; YOUNG PEOPLE.

I. CLUBS

- Every allegation of bullying or harassment should be investigated and responded to appropriately. Those responsible for providing netball opportunities and environments are responsible for providing a safe and inclusive environment where bullying behaviours will not be tolerated.
- Anyone involved in the organisation should be aware of the expected standards of behaviour and what to do when they become aware of behaviour which falls short of these expectations. By promoting and implementing this policy and the Codes of Conduct, the organisation can ensure that this is achieved and that all young people, parents/carers and any other concerned person know who to talk to about their concerns and what will happen as a result.
- Must appoint a Club Safeguarding Officer to act as the lead person with responsibility for advising and acting on safeguarding concerns. This person must be given access to appropriate training and supported in their role by the club management.
- Organisations need to be able to provide people with support, through keeping them informed and involved as appropriate and by referring them to external support services. Some of the national agencies and advice lines are listed in the policy under sources of information which can be found in section 9. Local mediation may be necessary, so having a person available to fulfil the mediators' role would be useful.
- Clubs need to be willing to take formal action when informal steps have not worked or not used due to the seriousness of the issue or complaint.

II. COACHES; VOLUNTEERS AND OFFICIALS

- As with any safeguarding issue, everyone accepting their role in ensuring a safe environment will make it less likely that bullying or harassing behaviour can occur. Being aware of the local procedure for reporting a concern will equip you to act when you think something is wrong, overheard a comment, seen someone upset or know that someone is treating another person badly.
- People in positions of trust are particularly responsible for acting as good role models and for recognising and praising positive achievements and behaviours, as well as taking appropriate action when there are negative behaviours. Coaches and officials are especially important in acting as positive role models and promoting the high standards of behaviour which England Netball expects.
- Explaining rules and practices helps reinforce the standards expected of participants. Acting on behaviour which falls short of this ensures that unacceptable behaviour is punished. Doing nothing gives bullies a licence to continue and makes the victim feel doubly picked on and undervalued.

III. PARENTS AND CARERS

- All parents and carers should be provided with a copy of the Codes of Conduct and be aware of what the expectations are on them, what they can expect from the club, and be aware of what the local procedures are for handling allegations of bullying or harassment.

- When a concern has been raised about a young person, the person should be made aware of the concern and be given the opportunity to discuss it. The parents of both the person against whom a complaint is made and those of the person who has suffered as a consequence of the behaviour, should be consulted on action to be taken and be part of any agreement to be put in place to tackle the issue. Parental consent will be needed for any acceptable behaviour contract or agreement which is designed to change behaviours and they may need to be asked to enter in to such agreements themselves.
- Parents should be provided with support and information on how to deal with their child being bullied or doing the bullying, including who they can talk to in the club and referral to support services outside the netball environment.

IV. YOUNG PEOPLE

- Young people need to know who to talk to about any concerns and should feel confident that they will be listened to and action taken. Speaking out can be a brave step to take, and it is crucial that once this step has been taken the response to it does not put that person off opening up more about what they are experiencing.
- Young people need to be told what will happen if they raise a concern and supported through the process. They should be assured of a safe environment in which to carry on playing their netball and not be made to feel that they cannot take part in the sport.
- Clubs which have put in place a mentoring scheme, which gives the young person a known contact which can support them when they are feeling unsure or upset. Parents and the club should make sure you know who this is.
- Young people should also be provided with referrals to support lines and other sources of external help, but the club also needs to keep involved and keep the young person informed and comfortable with the way in which an issue is being dealt with. The voice of the young person must be heard and listened to, whilst objective investigation is made and acceptable agreements for any change in behaviour made.
